TRIALOGIEM VII

TRIALOGEEM

Trialogfem is an international contemporary dance festival that brings together three renowned female creators to share their artistic visions. This event, driven by Israeli choreographer Dana Raz in Asturias, offers high-level workshops and dance performances aimed at moving and connecting with all kinds of audiences, especially highlighting the legacy and contribution of women in dance.

Trialogfem has evolved into 'Trialogfem Extended,' an intensive format designed for students, professionals, and semi-professionals. This new space for exchange takes place in the days leading up to the main festival, providing a unique opportunity to deepen the practice and learning of contemporary dance in a collaborative and creative environment.

Participants will have the unique experience of dancing in a piece created by the invited artists, as well as the possibility of establishing information exchanges and networking at an international level.

In addition, participants will have the opportunity to be part of an artistic video project, which they can use as a professional tool. They will also be offered the possibility of carrying out artistic activities in Gijón, focused on dance.
